Just a reminder that it's still shubbles responsibility to control her community. She didn't tell anyone to send him death threats, but she only spoke up when people finally started getting pissed at her for it. #WilburSupportSquad

#WilburSupportSquad #supportWilburS...

Hello, Wilbur,

my opening statement is that we support you all the way, that you matter and that you don't deserve all those horrible things.

I know it feels like the whole world is against you right now, but just know that we're here to support you. And we will support you anytime. You are a wonderful and talented person, and we all applaud you for taking on the incredibly difficult challenge of being the better version of yourself.

I hope you can see and acknowledge that you are not alone. I hope you can hear our voices.

i hope his mental health gets more concerning

The boys have been hard at work the past year, finishing up 4 tours around the world and are taking a much needed break before jumping in the studio to work on their debut album.

However, we apologise as we regretfully announce that the boys must cancel their upcoming performances at Coachella, Boston Calling, Bonnaroo and their headline show at Fox Theater Pomona.

This decision stems from concerns over Wilbur's mental health and the team thinks it best that the performances are cancelled earlier rather than later.

A full refund will be offered for ticket holders
